BRITISH PEOPLE DIG IN FOR WAR

Royal Air Force, German
Warplanes Exchange
Bombings

(By Associated Press)
LONDON, June 27.—The people of this island kingdom dug in today
for siege, cheered by indications that strong units of the French fleet would fight on at the side of Britain's navy.

German bombing planes made their sixth extensive early morning
raid in nine days, marking the first attack on a Welsh town. Five bombs were dropped on that unidentified community.

British aviation circles meanwhile reported new and "very heavy attacks" on various military objectives in Germany's highly industrialized Ruhr valley in a daylight sortie yesterday.

British Strike Again
The British struck again at Germany in the fact of Nazi threats of "thousand-fold" retaliation for previous British attacks.

One of the British raiders yesterday was said to have scored hits
on the center of an oil plant to the east of the Ruhr valley.

Other developments in the preparations for the war on two continents included:

1. Advice from United States
Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy
that all Americans "who do not have any urgent reason for remaining here longer" sail home on the U. S. liner Washington from Galway, Ireland, July 4. He said it was "very likely" to be the last American vessel to come over until after the war.

2. Official British acknowledgment that a "strong detachment"
of Italian troops and tanks had occupied a British frontier outpost
on the Ethiopian-British Somaliland border after a small garrison withdrew under attack.

3. Royal Air Force raids on Gura airstrome in Italian East Africa, on gasoline dumps at Macaca and on other "military targets" at Assam,
Italian Eritrea—all yesterday.

4. Five Italian air raids on the British Mediterranean base of Malta
in a 24-hour period ending at 6
p. m. yesterday in which 23 persons were killed and many wounded.

5. Refuse to Surrender Important segments of the naval power that once was France's were reported to have refused to surrender for internment under terms of the Petain government's armistice with Germany and Italy.

Instead, they were said to be assembling at French North African ports to continue the fight against Germany.

Fairmount Band To Play Here In Red Cross Behalf

The First Baptist church will sponsor a vespers service and concert by the Fairmount Children's Home band at 6:45 p. m.
Sunday in Centennial park as a benefit for the Red Cross war relief fund.

A free will offering will be taken at the conclusion of the service, to be given to the Red cross local fund.

The band of more than 50
pieces, comprising youngsters of the home, well known for their musical ability, will play during the first part of the program. A song service in charge of Walter Regal and David Bevan and a short vespers message by the pastor, Rev. S. T.
Magann, will follow.

PEACE RUMORS BRING DENIALS

British Say They Haven't
"Slightest Intention"
Of Quitting

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
You probably have heard the rumors which have been going rounds to the effect that a peace between Britain and Germany is in the making.

These have been cropping up in various places. Yesterday for instance there was the report that Sir Samuel Hoare, British ambassador to Spain, had broached the question of peace through the Spanish government. This morning
a Berlin radio commentator said
the British were trying to contact the axis powers, presumably for peace negotiations.

No Substantiation
There has been no substantiation
of any of these reports, but on the contrary all official statements in London have indicated a determination to continue the fight. Both the stories mentioned above have been categorically denied.

Rumors spring from such thin soil that it doesn't take much to get them started. Take the report about Sir Samuel Hoare. While he undoubtedly has made any peace
overtures, I should be much surprised if he hadn't been sounding
to see what the German temper
was.

What business could a war-time ambassador possibly have in the capital of an intermediary nation (as is Spain) if it wasn't to keep a finger on the pulse of the enemy to determine how he felt about peace? It is easy to see how such an inquiry might leak out and create an erroneous impression.

The British ministry declared in a statement last night that Britain is facing the coming struggle "with confidence." It added that England hasn't "the slightest intention" of laying down her arms
without a fight and "is determined to carry the struggle through to a victorious end."

Public Is Invited To Attend Nurses' Graduation Rites

The public, families and friends
are invited to attend the Salem
City Hospital Nurses' Training school commencement exercises at 8:15 tonight in the Presbyterian church.

Five graduates will receive their diplomas during the program which will feature an address by Lewis
C. Turner, executive assistant in adult education with the Akron board of education, and a vocal music by Lloyd Linder, professor of music at Mt. Union college, accompanied by Richard Hopkin of the college.

The Student Nurses' chorus will be heard in several numbers during the program, directed by Miss Martha Krauss. Miss Anna Cook, organist, will present a group of numbers.

Birth Records Are Obtainable Here

The recent scurry for birth certificates, now demanded by the majority of factory employment offices,
has brought letters of request to city, county and state officers—in city, county and state offices—in many instances to the wrong place.
The place to start looking for a birth certificate, Dr. R. T. Holzbach, city health commissioner, points
out, is the town or city where the child was born.

Birth records, from which certificates can be issued, are on file at the board of health offices. The department has a record of births
which occurred in Salem from 1889 to 1908. Since 1908, when a new state law made registration of births compulsory, the records include Perry and Butler townships
as well as Salem city.

RAILROAD BASES, PORTS ARE ASKED

Action Is Taken As Russian War Forces Gather
on Border

(By Associated Press)
BUCHAREST, June 27.—The Rumanian grand council, with King
Carol presiding, has decided to accede to a Soviet Russian ultimatum
calling for the cession of Bessaratia and the northern part of the province of Bucovina, diplomatic quarters reported today.

The ultimatum, which the informants said was to expire at 10
p. m. (3 p. m. EST), was said also to have demanded that Rumania
give Russia railroad bases at Constanta and certain Danube ports.
Warplanes Gather

Foreign military attaches received reports from the provinces that huge squadrons of Russian war-
planes were flying over Bessarabia
and northern Bucovina.

The ultimatum, it was said, was handed to Rumanian Minister Davidescu at Moscow by Premier Foreign Commissar Vyacheslav Molotov Wednesday night.

The first session of the grand council, which met at noon, terminated at 3:40 p. m. then the king ordered the meeting re-convened at 5 p. m.

It was understood in government quarters that this meeting would draft a formal reply to the Soviet ultimatum.

No official declaration was forthcoming.

The chief of the Rumanian
general staff visited King Carol's palace for a conference just before the grand council meeting.

The German and Italian ministers also had long talks with Carol and it was reported reliably they had urged the monarch, on behalf of their governments, to accede to the Soviet wishes.

than six hours to run until its expiration.

U. S. LAYS KEEL OF BIG WARSHIP

Also Hunts Store of Strategically Vital Tin
And Rubber

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, June 27.—The United States laid down the keel of its first 45,000-ton super-dread-
naught today and on a less dramatic defense front sought vast stores of strategically vital rubber and tin.

Start of work on the battleship
Iowa at the Brooklyn navy yard and opening of negotiations by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation
for essential war materials typified
the divergent activity of the preparedness program.

South America continued to figure prominently in the developments. The Export-Import bank granted a $30,000,000 trade loan to Argentina yesterday just as intensive Nazi economic activity was reported there. The navy, with three warships in the South Atlantic, ordered three more to the South Pacific, and government
plans proceeded for financing Latin-American development of crude rubber production.

Talk With Packard
The national defense commission
meanwhile pursued discussions with Packard Motor company for mass production of aircraft engines on a joint U. S.-British order. The talks followed the collapse Tuesday
of negotiations with Henry Ford,
who refused any but exclusively
American defense contracts.

The 45,000-ton Iowa—largest bat-tlewagon ever put on the ways for the navy—marked the beginning of a construction program which will add four huge capital ships to the fleet. It will be between 3 and 4 years before the 45,000-tonners are completed, however.

Notice of bargaining for rubber and tin was given yesterday by Jesse H. Jones, federal loan administrator, not long after President Roosevelt signed the bill which authorized the RFC to finance acquisition of strategic raw materials.

Governor Bricker Leads Taft Demonstration

TAFT IS HAILED ON NOMINATION

Described As a Man with A Constructive
Program

(By Associated Press)
PHILADELPHIA, June 27.—Sen.
Robert A. Taft—a man "who knows the answers" and "will save America from what happened to France"
—were the tributes to the Ohioan placed in nomination for president at the national Republican convention last night.

Eloquent Grove Patterson, editor
of the Toledo Blade, made the nominating speech, offering Taft as a candidate "who in a crisis knows what to do."

Man With Program
He presented Taft as "an amazing vote-getter," a man with a
"constructive program" and experience in international affairs.

"He will save America from what happened to France," said Sen.
Warren E. Austin of Vermont in a seconding speech.

Mrs. A. G. Natwick of Washington asserted "in January the Buckeye state will become the grandmother of a president." Ohio, mentioned by Patterson as "the mother of presidents," was also the home
of William Howard Taft, the candidate's father and a former president and chief justice of the United States.

Said other seconders:
Judge King Swope of Kentucky—
"If you'll nominate him this week
you'll inaugurate him in January."
Herman H. Langworthy of Missouri—"Taft knows the American people don't want the government to assume dominion over all their activities."

Boisterous Demonstration
Following Taft's nomination, supporters jammed the aisles in a boisterous demonstration.

Hundreds of Taft banners and picture banners never reached the floor, unable to move in the maelstrom which surged through the convention hall.

Among the state banners in the Taft procession were Indiana, Kentucky, California, Colorado, Texas, Utah, Iowa, Washington, Arkansas
and Georgia.

As delegates paraded, red, white
and blue bunting was used.

Salem Man Is Fined On Traffic Charge

Blair Parks of R. D. Salem, arrested yesterday by State Patrolman James F. White on a charge of leaving the scene of an accident, was fined $50 and costs and given a suspended 30-day jail sentence when he pleaded guilty today
before Mayor Norman Phillips.

Parks is alleged to have struck a car on the Lisbon road early Sunday, operated by Ernest A. Apel of East Liverpool, and then failed to stop.

Ralph Lewis of Canton, charged with reckless driving, was fined $10
and costs in the mayor's court yesterday.

Two East Liverpool Motorists Injured

Two East Liverpool persons were among three injured in a truck-auto collision at the junction of Routes 45 and 224 at Ellsworth at 1:25 a. m. today.

Roland McNeil, 44, of R. D. 1, East Liverpool, driver of the automobile, suffered lacerations over his right eye and left side of his head.
Mrs. Nellie M. Myers of East Liverpool, who was riding with McNeil,
received a cut over her right eye,
abrasions of the face and left leg.

Robert Wolfe, 31, of Mishawaka, Ind., the truck driver, received a cut over his right eye. The East Liverpool couple were admitted to Salem City hospital. Wolfe received first aid treatment.

GOP Will Take Opening Ballots This Afternoon

Prospects of Wendell Willkie and Conferences In Hoover Headquarters Question
Marks As Zero Hour Nears

(By Associated Press)
CONVENTION HALL, Philadelphia, June 27.—With ten candidates placed in nomination for the presidency, the Republican national convention recessed at 1:45 p. m. until 3:30 p. m. when it will start balloting on a 1940 party nominee.

The prospects of Wendell Willkie and new conferences
in Herbert Hoover's hotel suite framed a big question mark today as delegates listened to more hours of nominating speeches before balloting on their 1940 standard bearer.

Sleepy after a late session last night which was marked by a tremendous demonstration both for and against Willkie, Republicans
tramped wearily into the convention hall. But even earlier, Hoover, reported by some to be the spear-
head of an anti-Willkie movement,
was up and busy.

"Draft Hoover" buttons seen
in hotel lobbies for the first time,
but the former president had no
elaboration on his statement that he was not "seeking" public office.

Willkie told reporters that talks
of a combination to stop him
"amuse me."

Willkie contended he had been
"agreeably surprised" by every
check of his delegate strength.

Among those who have talked with Hoover were Thomas E. Dewey
of New York and Sen. Robert A.
Taft of Ohio, both of whom were placed in nomination last night,
and Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg of Michigan, whose name was presented today.

Chairman Joseph W. Martin said
in advance of the opening (at 9:50
a. m.) that he hoped to run off all the remaining six nominating speeches in three hours, then recess a couple hours before ordering the first ballot.

First to be placed in nomination
was Hanford MacNider of Iowa,
one-time assistant secretary of war
and former national commander of the American Legion.

This was followed by the nominations of Senator Vandenberg, Senator H. Styles Bridges of New Hampshire, and Senator Charles H.
McNary of Oregon.

Last night's six-hour session saw unanimous adoption of the program
which the party offers voters.

This platform denounced the New Deal, said the Roosevelt administration had a "record of failures,"
and proposed a constitutional amendment to forbid a third term
to any man.

Opposes Involvement
On national defense, the party opposed involvement in foreign wars, said the administration had left the nation "wholly unprepared
to defend" itself, proposed armament
to defend the country and uphold the Monroe doctrine, and suggested for nations "whose ideals
most closely resemble our own" such help "as shall not be in violation of international law or inconsistent with the requirements of our own national defense."

The document also proposed:
Restoration of relief administration to the states.

Extension of old age benefits and broadening of unemployment compensation.

Amendment of the Wagner Labor Relations Act, with protection of the rights of both employer and worker.

Holiday Programs Are Announced for Golf, Country Clubs

Gala holiday programs have been planned by the Salem Golf club
and the Salem Country club for their Independence day celebrations
Thursday, July 4.

The Golf club will open its Fourth of July celebration with a dance Wednesday night. The Thursday program includes a flag tournament in the morning followed by a dinner for members and guests
at noon.

The annual fireworks display and dance Thursday night will feature the Salem Country club's July 4 program. A junior tennis tournament for players under 18-years of age will be held at the Country club Thursday afternoon.

The tennis courts at the Country club have been improved with the construction of a new backstop and purchase of a new stainless steel
net for one of the three courts.
Other recent improvements at the club include a new spillway for the lake and addition of a shuffleboard
court.

Lutheran Church Will Hold Outing

Trinity Lutheran church and Sunday school held an outing Wednesday afternoon and evening at Firestone park in Columbiana with approximately 150 in attendance.

The picnic supper, served by the men of the church, was followed by games and contests. Winners included Joyce Woodworth, Thomas
Kibler, Jerry Miller, Janet Youtz,
Perry Hilliard, Jr., Lynn Koch,
Donna Ruth Youtz, Mrs. Becknell,
Wayne Becknell, William Bowman
and Mrs. Lester Lehman.

The 1941 picnic will be held at Firestone park the last Wednesday in June.

TIME FOR CLEAR THINKING

With the turn of events in Europe, Americans are becoming more sensitive to the dangers that may be lurking in their own communities with respect to the safety of their own country. They are conscious of fifth column activities in certain parts of the country and fearful lest they may be the victims of unpatriotic groups and individuals. They have their ears to the ground to detect subversive remarks and, too often, to construe certain remarks as subversive.

The tendency, and the great danger, as the situation nears the tense stage, is to create a scare where there is no justification for such a condition. In so doing only harm results. Rumors are accepted readily as facts and spread like wildfire, although no one seems to know who started the rumors or what basis of fact they may have.

That very condition exists in Salem today. Rumors have named a half dozen men, most of them in business, as having been taken into custody and escorted to Cleveland for investigation. Each one who repeats the stories adds emphasis to their truth, and yet not one of them actually knows whether the stories are true.

The real facts are that no Salem man has been arrested on charges of subversive actions or remarks, and not one of the men mentioned in the rumors has even been suspected of such unpatriotic acts.

These men, most of whom came from Transylvania, not Germany, are law-abiding, respectable citizens. They are better citizens than many of those who have been repeating the rumors. Most of them own their own homes, are trying to make an honest living in legitimate business enterprises, are active church members, and lend their hand in many ways to maintain the community's interests and to support its worthy institutions. They form a rather large group which has contributed to the cultural welfare of the city and of which all other citizens of Salem are proud. And they are thankful that they are living in America and proud of their citizenship.

These are times for clear thinking, and calm judgment in matters which may affect the welfare of such useful citizens. Investigation, if there need be any, might well be directed toward those who spread wild rumors.

THE POLITICAL BOTTLENECK

The Republican party's task, which explains the importance of developments in the Philadelphia convention, is to make itself an effective instrument of national welfare. The same task will challenge the Democratic party when its convention is held.

The breakdown of politics in France and Great Britain has been at the bottom of their troubles. Because politicians failed to do what public welfare demanded one proud nation has disintegrated and another is in a grim battle for its life.

The United States has had the benefit of watching what happened to the two great European democracies. It has seen their politicians chasing each other around in short circles while doom impended. It has heard them argue about which end an egg should be cracked on while Germany methodically prepared to crack it on both ends and in the middle. The tragedy has been too ghastly to permit any notion of repeating it here.

Americans have faith in the intelligence, the discipline and the courage of their military and naval establishments. They have faith in the resources of their manpower. They have faith in the efficiency and resourcefulness of their industrial and business organization. They have faith in their financial stability. They have faith in their ability to feed themselves, to clothe themselves—to do everything that is necessary to their existence.

They lack faith only in the capacity of their political leaders to furnish direction and purpose to national energy. They are apprehensive of half-pint brains and underdone ideas in high places. They are afraid of picaresque methods and half-hearted approaches. They are mistrustful of guile and narrowness and frenzied fumbling. They are weary of representative government which betrays its trust and whiles away the time in follow-the-leader. They have seen what happened when political bottlenecks stifled national energies elsewhere and they pray that the disaster may be averted in America.

Everything that needs to be done can be done if one thing is provided—sound political leadership.

THE LAG IN COMPREHENSION

As evidence that things are happening too rapidly to be comprehended—an unhealthy condition and certainly an unpleasant one for those who try to keep abreast of events, here are a few exhibits:

1—Germany, now that Roumania has come into its orbit, controls outright or indirectly every inch of European territory from Lapland to the Greek peninsula. When comprehension dawns it will be realized that no matter what happens to Great Britain, win or lose, there is no power in Europe capable of changing the fact of German domination over Europe. It could be changed only through collapse of Germany; Great Britain, with no allies, has lost its influence over the balance of power even if it succeeds in resisting invasion.

2—While columnists and other commentators continue to apply the term "isolationist" to individuals and organizations, a reliable survey of public opinion in America (Fortune magazine's) has discovered that more than 97 percent of its participants favor aid to the Allies, as compared with only 26.1 percent last winter. This raises the question of what an isolationist is and the more puzzling question of where the isolationists who are accused of fooling the country are hiding, if there still are any. Apparently the commentators are suffering from a lag in comprehension too.

3—One of the most unusual summers in the memory of living men is slipping away with scarcely a flicker of attention. Besides being the summer of the big rain, the big gardens and the big major league races, there have been extraordinary events as the marriage of Sen. Carter Glass of Virginia, a tax bill in an election year, a political convention without a smoke filled room and scarcely a word of free publicity about the New York world fair. Historians, no doubt, are taking notes on these matters and will be prepared to tell us 50 years hence what we were too busy to note carefully at the time.

THIRTY YEARS AGO

(Issue of June 27, 1910)

Supt. J. S. Johnson of the Salem public schools has received information that Salem High school has been continued on the accredited list of Ohio State university, Columbus, for another full term of three years. This means that graduates of the local school will have the privilege of receiving the benefits of a university education at Ohio State. Many young men from Salem have graduated from various courses at this institution and there are nine enrolled as students there at the present time.

Work has been started on the structural iron work of the new brick addition which is being built at the plant of the American Steel & Wire Co. here. This addition will be 100 by 250 feet, located south of the present building, and will present an attractive view to passengers of the Pennsylvania railroad. The American Bridge Co. has the contract for the structural iron work and the J. C. Devine of Alliance has the brick work contract.

Mr. and Mrs. E. I. Kille and son and Mr. and Mrs. Guy Seeds and son Twing, left Saturday morning in Kille's auto for Minerva on a fishing trip.

Mrs. J. B. McNab of Garfield ave. went to Cleveland Saturday where she will spend a two weeks visit at the home of her son, Oscar McNab.

He will go on a trip on the lakes and through the west this summer.

THE STARS SAY:

For Friday, June 28

ALTHOUGH THERE may be some trivial upsets or sudden visitations of minor consequence, judging by the lunar aspects, on the whole there should be quiet, steady progress in the direction of fulfilled ambitions. This may be attained by sound and workable plans built on constructive ideas rather than by snap judgments or spectacular gestures.

Those whose birthday it is are on the threshold of a year in which virtue may reap its own rewards, this through steady, persistent and well thought-out efforts attracting the solid support of those of influence or financial ability for development. Propositions based on worthy ideals having more than the sordid aim of private gain, may have strong appeal to those willing to assist in promoting welfare organizations.

A child born on this day although having high ideals, spiritual impulses and deep aspirations for the common weal, yet should be steady, industrious and fairly ambitious. It will have moderate success and popularity with those in high station.

Malnutrition May Arise From One of Many Causes

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

IN CONNECTION with our diets for underweight, it would help to an understanding if we would examine the nature of chronic malnutrition and its causes.

Aside from any real disease process which causes malnutrition and which we discussed recently, the factors which condition nutrition are physical environment.

VICIOUS RUMORS

Editor, The News:

As a citizen of the United States and a taxpayer of this community, I am taking these means of recalling a series of malicious rumors which are circulating about this town concerning my husband.

At first we took this all as a joke. It has now come to the point where we are afraid it might affect my husband's business.

As most of the citizens of Salem know, he has a shoe repair shop downtown, and has been established for some 30 years. He was born in Transylvania and came to the U. S. at the age of 18. In all these years he has been a good citizen, minding his own business and thanking God he is in America.

There are of course some narrow-minded people who, if they hear any of these rumors, would delight in believing them. But I am sure the people who have known him all these years, know these rumors are false and will treat them accordingly.

I only hope the person or persons who have started these rumors realize the harm they can do to an innocent person. And also realize the consequences which may follow.

In closing I also hope this article will check rumors concerning other men in our city.

Depends on Vitamins

Appetite to a considerable extent depends upon the proper amount of vitamins in the food, and so does absorption. Physical activity has a great deal to do with the proper utilization of food. By increasing energy expenditure, the caloric requirements of the food are raised by several hundred or thousand calories. If this is not met, malnutrition will result. Here is another vacation diet for the underweight.

Breakfast: Baked apples; liver and bacon; 2 eggs; 2 slices toast and butter; coffee with cream and sugar.

Mid-morning: Glass milk, one-half cream.

Lunch: Cream soup; croutons; smoked sturgeon; bread with butter; fresh peas; salad; fresh berries with cream and sugar.

Mid-afternoon: Orange juice.

Dinner: Tomato juice; cocktail; beefsteak with mushrooms; peppers stuffed with cheese; bread and butter; Romaine anchovy salad; cream puff; coffee with cream.

Evening: Egg nog.

Approximate value — 3,900 calories.

Prominent Citizens Hear Health Evangelist Bartok

No End of Interest Being Created by the Health Talks of This Man With His Fascinating Personality

TELLS OF MILLIONS SPENT BY COMPANY

Explains Success of Bardex Tonic in Restoring Health—Minstrels Offer New FREE Show Tonight

It is surprising to note the number of our leading citizens that are taking their families to and enjoying the entertainments that are being offered nightly by the Bardex Free Minstrels on their big lot at Broadway and Franklin streets. This is something quite unusual for it is seldom that shows of this kind attract that class of patronage.

This may be at least partly explained by the fact that the lectures by Health Evangelist Bartok have created wide interest and would in themselves draw large crowds even without the really excellent entertainment that is offered in addition.

In the talk Wednesday night Evangelist Bartok explained the enormous task his company has undertaken in gathering scientific knowledge of medical herbs from different parts of the world and stated that more than one million dollars had been spent in this work during the past ten years.

One interesting point he brought out was the fact that Americans being people of mixed blood, had been found to be susceptible to the action of herbs raised in native soils and that the same herbs cultivated in this country seemed to lose much of their health-giving power. This

Gives Up Bessarabia and Northern Province of Bucovina

piration, foreign military observers
were informed that heavy concentrations of Red army troops, tanks
and artillery were massing along the Dniester river and the former Polish-Rumanian frontier.
Bessarabia, which was Russian
before the World War settlement,
and Bucovina, a former province of Austria-Hungary, both have large Ukrainian populations, and the Berlin radio reported Russia's demands
were for "all Rumanian territories
chiefly inhabited by Ukrainians."
Although Moscow apparently insists Bessarabia belongs to this category,
the Encyclopedia Britannica puts its Ukrainian population at only 20 per cent.

The Ukrainian homeland, with a population of about 32,000,000, is one of the component republics of the Russian Soviet union. If Russia gets Bessarabia and Bucovina
she will have united virtually all Ukrainian territory except the car-patho-Ukraine, a small portion of the now dismembered Czecho-Slovak republic.
After the break-up of Czecho-Slovakia last year there were many reports of a Pan-Ukrainian movement under German encouragement designed to draw all Ukrainians, including those in Russia, into the Nazi orbit.

LISBON, June 27.—Mayor G. C.
Rauch announced today that work would begin within a day or two on the oiling of approximately 40 dirt
and ash streets in the village.
It will mark the sixth year that village officials have had the streets
oiled, free of charge of residents, in order to keep down the dust.

Paging Frank Buck, 37-Footer's Loose

CINCINNATI, June 27.—Greatjous snakes alive, and where's Frank Buck!
The Cincinnati zoo had a letter
today from Mildred Blazer, age 7, of (R. D. 7) Gallipolis, asking if it were "interested" in a 35-foot reptile assertedly slithering over the hills of her parents' farm, 12
miles south of there.

"I was in the woods locating logs," she wrote, "when I stepped up to what I thought to be a log
—until it moved off. It was rusty black or brown in color, about 10
or 12 inches through and about 35 feet in length."
A snake of immense size has been seen previously by my father and several others.

"If you are interested, let me know."
"We're interested, all right," commented Ned Hastings of the zoo's public relations staff, "but I'm just a little afraid."

"Taft's CCC—courageous, candid

G. O. P. TO BEGIN BALLOTS TODAY

Ten Nominees Awaiting Verdict of Convention

Continuation of farm benefit payments.

With the platform out of the way about 5 p. m. E. S. T., the convention went directly into the oratorical flourishes needed to induct the candidates formally into the race for the nomination.

After the speech by John Lord O'Brien of New York which put Dewey into the nomination, Dewey men leaped to their feet with a roar and went dancing about the floor waving pictures and state standards. They kept it up for 20 minutes.

Gannett's name was put before the convention by Rep. James W. Wadsworth, a party warhorse of many years, greying and balding now.

Grove Patterson Speaks

Next into the battery of lights came Grove Patterson. To lead editor, to propose Senator Taft. For 20 minutes the Taft men whooped and yelled, waved banners and marched, while they pranced about the floor and balloons tumbled out of cages in the roof.

In his speech for Willie, Representative Halleck encountered repeated heckling.

"I'm for him if he will keep the country out of war," he said amid a chorus of boos.

"Just a minute," he added. "You will hear me. He knows war as a soldier who fought in France in the last war."

Shouts of laughter and more boos broke in a few minutes later when Halleck said the Willie boom has been accomplished "without a political organization and with no campaign funds."

"No campaign funds!" laughed a man in the back of the hall.

The first fights broke out on the floor when the demonstration started a moment or so later. Delaware, Connecticut, Rhode Island, Maryland, Maine, California, New Jersey, Minnesota, and Montana state standards bobbed about the hall filled with marching delegates.

But beside the Ohio standard sat Gov. John W. Bricker, hands tightly clenched about the pine pole. Right behind him, former Sen. David Reed of Pennsylvania and several husky delegates made certain the standard of thier James-pledged delegation did not go astray. And in front of Bricker half a dozen Michigan guards stood guard over their standard.

DEATHS

ISAAC W. JOHNSON

Isaac W. Johnson, 75, died at 8:15 p. m. Wednesday at his home, 908 E. Pershing st.

Born in Uniontown, Pa., Feb. 15, 1865, Mr. Johnson came to Salem with his parents in 1869 and had resided here since.

He is survived by his widow, Laura; four brothers, Joseph and Peter Johnson of Salem and Blaine and Earl Johnson of New York; and two sisters, Mrs. Bessie Altman and Mrs. Rachel Howard of Salem.

Funeral service will be held at the home at 2 p. m. Saturday in charge of Rev. J. B. Cooper. Burial will be in Hope cemetery.

Friends may call at the home Friday afternoon and evening.

MRS. JESSE SCATTERGOOD

Mrs. Lulu Scattergood, 67, wife of Jesse D. Scattergood of Main st., Leetonia, died at 3:07 p. m. yesterday in Salem City hospital following two years' illness of complications.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Ohl, she was born Sept. 20, 1872, at Ohiotown.

She leaves her husband and one daughter, Mrs. Lena Freiman of Detroit.

Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

WILLIAM KAUFMAN FUNERAL

Mrs. Ed Shriver of W. State st. has been called to Waterloo, Ill., by the death of a brother, William Kaufmann, 73, who succumbed at his home there Tuesday night.

The funeral service will be held at 2 p. m. Friday.

Gas Company Rates Will Be Continued

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS, June 27.—The state utilities commission today authorized the Natural Gas Company of West Virginia to file supplemental tariffs extending for one year from June 1 and continuing existing rates which expired May 31.

The schedules provide for charges of $1.00 for the first 1,000 cubic feet; 62 cents for each of the next 2,000; and 57 cents for each 1,000 above 3,000.

They are applicable to Amsterdam, Bergholtz, Bolivar, Carrollton, Jewett, Magnolia, Malvern, Minerva, Seio, Waynesburg, Beloit, Columbiana, Hanoverton, Leetonia, Lisbon, Salem, Salmesville, Sebring, Washingtonville and smaller communities and rural districts in Columbiana, Mahoning, Stark, Harrison, Carroll, Tuscarawas and Jefferson counties.

PEACE RUMORS BRING DENIALS

British Say They Haven't "Slightest Intention" Of Quitting

It is my personal view that this is a fair statement of the present attitude of the British government and public toward peace. I don't believe they have any present intention of quitting.

But I am bound to say that their present intention (and I repeat that word "present") is going to be put to a very terrible test in the immediate future. Will that intention weaken if the Germans are able to give England the "blood-bath" they have threatened, and the roads of the little country are jammed with helpless women and children fleeing death?

Englishmen don't quit under fire for sake of their own safety. But we must recognize that the bulk of Britain's population of 46 millions is centered in the congested areas of the heart of the country. What will happen if and when the Nazi bombs begin to rain down on this crowded area? Will the Briton's determination and bravery be able to stand it?

We shall have to wait and see. I think we had better admit now there always is the possibility that it might be necessary to surrender England itself to save slaughter of civilians. Then the government might, as it has declared, transfer its activities to Canada and carry on from there.

Has England a chance to defeat Germany?

In my view—yes. Without question Britain has a terrific task cut out for her, but nobody has this war in a sack yet.

Horseman, Thrown, Wins Jury Verdict

LISBON, June 27.—A verdict for $1,500 was returned by a jury in common pleas court here Wednesday afternoon, in favor of Kenneth Beight of East Palestine, against Charles Adams, Middletown township fruit grower who also operates a riding stable at Negley.

The jury deliberated two hours in returning a verdict in favor of Beight who was injured when thrown from a horse owned by the defendant, last Aug. 8. It was charged the saddle had not been properly secured, and the rider had not been warned of the spirited nature of the animal.

Here and There - About Town

Two Streets Completed

The Brooklyn ave. and Mound st. paving project have been completed, and WPA workers have been transferred to the W. Seventh st. job. City Engineer P. S. Barckhoff announced today.

Installation of a storm water sewer on Seventh st. is now under way. Grading operations preliminary to the paving are expected to commence sometime next week.

Hospital Notes

Mrs. Maude Atchison of 879 S. Lincoln ave. has entered Salem City hospital for medical treatment.

Mrs. Clyde Baringer of Berlin Center, Mrs. Joseph L. Williams of North Lima, William Sommers of 447 Franklin st., Mrs. George Clap-saddle of Leetonia and Eugene Hergenrother of R. D. 2, Salem, are patients for surgical treatment in Salem City hospital.

Building Permit

A building permit was issued by the city yesterday to Leo T. Beall for a $3,000 home on W. Seventh st.

Recent Burials

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert England of R. D. 2, Berlin Center, are parents of a daughter, born yesterday in Salem City hospital.

the axis powers under direction of the British navy and in cooperation with General Auguste Nogues, French high commissioner in North Africa.

The air ministry announced two German bombers were shot down in last night's raid on Britain, that no serious damage had been done, and that there were "only slight casualties." The raids appeared centered on eastern England and Scotland, with many incendiary bombs dropped.

One man died from shock when a bomb fell within a few yards of his home in northeast Scotland.

Anthony Eden's Hint

War Minister Anthony Eden dropped a broad hint that Britain might herself launch a bold offensive against Germany.

With units of the French fleet now reported ready to carry on the fight under British command, Eden declared bluntly:

"No battle can be won by standing on the defensive."

"Until the time comes to sally forth from the fortress (Britain) to the attack remember that it is not sufficient merely to defeat the attack on these islands."

The war minister's statement came shortly after the official disclosure that British landing parties had crossed the channel, attacked Nazi troops on the German occupied coast and obtained valuable reconnaissance information.

Annual Picnic Held By Friends' Church

More than 200 members of the First Friends church and Sunday school attended the annual picnic from 1:30 to 10 p. m. yesterday at Firestone park, near Columbiana.

An afternoon program of games and contests for the children was followed by a picnic supper in Pavilion 4, a short vespers service and entertainment for the adults.

The children who won prizes were Catherine Lippiatt, Betty Early, June McCluggage, Shirley Ingledue, Betty Suggitt, Richard Todd, Harold Keifer, Irene Crew, Robert Ellyson, Kenneth Shallenberg and Alfred Landwert.

Adult contests were won by Edgar Wilson, Willard Pim, Mrs. Henry Wolfgang, Mrs. Vivian Creighton; a cake judging event, Mrs. Mary Harshman, Mrs. Norman Sturgeon for the best looking cake, Mrs. Mary Ware and Mrs. H. K. Gilbert. Rev. Andrew B. Starbuck conducted the vespers service following the dinner.

Potters' Delegates Leave For Parley

The executive board of the National Brotherhood of Operative Potters today opened a four-day session in Atlantic City preparatory to opening there Monday of the golden anniversary convention of 140 delegates representing 16,000 members.

Delegates from Salem local No. 42 are Richard Reedy, Roy Baisley, Harry Vincent and Mrs. John Walters. They will receive final instructions at a meeting of the local tomorrow night in K. of P. hall.

The convention program will be outlined, committees appointed and a study made of resolutions pertaining to a proposed new two-year wage agreement with the United States Potters' association.

Subordinate unions have submitted resolutions for pay increases, particularly in the operation of machinery, which has displaced manpower in some plants.

District Mibster Continues Advance

WILDWOOD, N. J., June 27.—Posting 38 wins against 10 losses, Walter Lutsch of Fairmount Children's home, Alliance, advanced to the semi-finals of the national marbles tournament here today.

Lutsch's accurate shooting won him the championship of League 3 in the eastern section of the national competition. The Fairmount Children's home marbles star is one of two boys representing the Canton district in the national tournament.

Theater Attractions

Eugenie Leontovich stage star, makes her initial film appearance as the mother in "Four Sons" which shows at the State tonight through Saturday.

Don Ameche doing by far his finest screen work, Alan Curtis, Robert Lowery and young George Ernest are seen as the sons, with Mary Beth Hughes as the girl, the two oldest brothers love. Others in the cast are Lionel Royce, Sig Rummann, Christian Rub, Torben and Greta Meyer.

The invasion of a small nation, helpless to defend itself against a powerful enemy, is told through the small Czechoslovakian family of Frau Bernie to whom the great political changes in the world are unimportant besides the task of rearing four sons, until she sees them embroiled in the struggle—on opposite sides.

Beautifully played, the character of the mother becomes a symbol of the innocent little people of countries which have lost their nationalities. The sons, portrayed by Ameche and the three other young actors who, until now, have had little dramatic opportunity, become human, real, their problems as vital as the issue creating them.

At the Grand Friday and Saturday is the western action drama, "Covered Wagon Days," a Three Mesquites story, with Bob Livingston, Duncan Renaldo and Raymond Hatton.

SOUTH FIGHTS ECONOMIC ILLS
Farms, Industry, Schools, Business Covered In 10-Year Plan

ATLANTA, Ga.—The South has charted a decade of planned progress to solve what President Roosevelt called the "nation's outstanding economic problem."

The program encompasses the problem faced by agriculture, industry, education and business. It has been endorsed by all Southern governors.

The program calls for:
1—Balance money crops including forestry with food, feed and fertility crops.

2—Balance crops with livestock production.
3—Balance scientific production of high quality products with scientific marketing, grading, processing and packing, and establishment of adequate transportation methods without trade barriers.

4—Balance farms with factories.
5—Utilize and develop all natural resources in keeping with best conservation policies.

Education Also Included

6—Provide adequate educational opportunities at all levels.

7—Encourage thrift, home ownership and local development.

8—Beautiful homes, communities, highways, parks and playgrounds.

9—Raise the standard of living conditions by improving housing, health and other essentials of human welfare.

10—Balance economic gains with gains in culture and moral values. Urgency of the program was stressed at a meeting here by Dr. Clarence Poe, editor of the Progressive Farmer, who warned that the South is in a "perilous situation" because it has relied too much on an expert system of farming.

"The current European war," Poe said, will leave the South in a worsened condition regardless of which nation wins.

War's Effect Feared

"If the Allies win, we face an impoverished set of customers. If they lose, we face the most colossal domination of the European continent that has been known since the Holy Roman Empire."

Poe additionally pointed out that should the Allies win, heavy duties would virtually negate any trade with the South in cotton and tobacco—the two big money crops.

The South, he added, now buys up to 50 per cent of its foodstuffs from Eastern and Western states although these same foodstuffs could be grown in the South.

Governmental leaders, industrialists and agricultural experts have pledged full cooperation in making the 10-year plan a success. Donald Comber, Birmingham, a leading southern textile manufacturer and chairman of the program for Alabama, is one of the industrialists taking a leading part in the effort.

MONTGOMERY, Ala.—The Alabama state prison department has opened an assembly and classification center at its central prison here so that first offenders may be segregated from hardened criminals from the start. Gov. Frank M. Dixon terms it "a definite and worthwhile advance."

PHILADELPHIA—Assistant Police Superintendent Guy Parsons has announced that every effort will be made to preserve quiet in Philadelphia. Among innovations along this line at the National Republican convention will be the absence of police sirens when important figures receive motorcycle escorts.

"Fun For Fans" Is Still Keynote Of National League Games

GIANTS, CARDS OFFER ACTION IN LONG GAME

Teams Score 13 Runs In One Inning; Giants Finally Win

By JUDSON BAILEY
In the days when the New York Yankees were burning up everything in baseball, National League fans used to defend their interests by saying they got more for their money than the American league's customers.

Vaudeville Show

In New York, for instance, the Giants and St. Louis Cardinals came up with a 10-inning 10-9 bit of vaudeville last night.

There were five home runs in the game and 13 runs scored in one inning, the seventh, after which the whole issue still had to be decided because the score was tied at nine all.

No Broadway show has had a more dramatic climax. The Giants loaded the bases in the ninth and failed to score. They did it again in the tenth. This time Pinch-hitter Johnny McCarthy drove home the winning run with a single—his first hit of the year!

Even the doubleheader between the last-place Phillies and the plodding Pittsburgh Pirates was packed with action. Cy Blanton and Joe Bowman matched seven-hit pitching in the first game, and Johnny Rizzo, a former Pirate, brought the Phils a 4-2 victory by homering with one on in the eighth.

Browns Lose

This was enough to lift the world champions back into the American league's first division as the Philadelphia Athletics subdued the St. Louis Browns, 9-4.

This victory, in turn, put Philadelphia again in seventh place and let the Washington Senators slide back to the cellar under the burden of a 7-6 defeat by the Chicago White Sox. The two teams peppered 27 hits off five pitchers.

The Boston Red Sox fought back to a 3-1 triumph over the Detroit Tigers that gave the Red Sox the series and moved them within half a game of the second-place Tigers.

JOOST HEADED FOR STARDOM

Reds' Utility Infielder Shows Up Well In Recent Games

CINCINNATI, June 27—Eddie Joost has become one of the brightest spots in the Reds' horizon, not altogether clouded from their top position on the National League ladder.

The little utility infielder got his first major league home run in a recent brush with Philadelphia in a spot where it was needed. He has been observed as "usually there" on defense and Rhinelanders predict he is headed for stardom.

True, Eddie has not been burning up the track with his hitting, but neither have the rest of the Reds. Joost's average is only .221 but his hustle at shortstop has kept Billy Myers, out of the game because of an injury, on the bench for several days.

Deciding that something must be done about their weakness in clubs, the Reds returned home with the hope that a bit of batting practice today would bolster their batting before an encounter with the Cubs Friday night.

Paul Derringer, who usually beats the Cubs, was given the mound assignment. Jim Turner, who won his last two starts, was scheduled to work Saturday with Bucky Walters and Junior Thompson chucking the double-header Sunday.

OAKLAND, Cal.—A man arrested by police while walking nude at night, presented difficulties as to what charge should be placed against him, as city ordinances do not make this act a misdemeanor. The problem was solved for arresting him for "walking on the wrong side of the road" as provided in traffic regulations.

AMATEURS NAME NEW PRESIDENT

John Gillespie To Head Ohio Association of Golfers

CLEVELAND, June 27—John B. Gillespie, Jr. of Columbus is the new president of the Ohio Golf association, succeeding E. R. Randolph of Dayton.

The association named Robert A. Stranahan, Toledo manufacturer, as honorary president and selected his home club, Toledo Inverness, as the site for next year's amateur tournament.

Went Shop of Washington Court House was elected association vice president and T. Frederick Reese of Columbus, secretary-treasurer.

Named to the board of governors were: P. W. Klinger of Dayton, H. C. Cook of Steubenville, C. W. Deibel of Youngstown, C. A. Hauck of Toledo R. T. Lewis of Marion, Hamilton Hedges of Columbus, C. O. Robinson of Marietta, Dr. John G. Love of Columbus, H. D. Smith of Card, J. J. Morton of Cincinnati, C. T. Whitmore Jr., Frank H. Pelton and Ellis Ryan of Cleveland; Gillespie and Shop.

The association said it would discuss plans for changing the amateur qualifying system at its fall meeting, and would seek restoration of the pro-amateur tournament.

SERVIS LEADS QUALIFIERS IN AMATEUR GOLF

Defending Champ Faces Melvin Sulser In First Match

By JOE MORTON.
CLEVELAND, June 27—Golf has become a sideline for Bobby Servis, bent upon becoming a restaurateur, but fellow Ohio amateurs are ready to testify his new interest hasn't lulled his game.

The 25-year-old Daytonian teed off as defending titleholder in the late amateur tournament today at the top of the field of 64. Although the competition is his first this year, he had a low qualifying score of 70.

Paired against Melvin Sulser of Columbus, who shot an 80 yesterday, Servis was an odds on favorite to move to the final round. His two-under-par qualifying score was challenged by only one other entrant, Bob Castor of Ashland, who chipped his ball on the 18th green to snag a 36-35-71.

Other Leaders

Other qualifying leaders were John Schneider of Cleveland, Edward Ruebsch of Cincinnati, and Dick Weiser of Springfield, with 74; and Marshall Carlson of Toledo, state intercollegiate champion, with 75.

Principal hurdle in Servis' path to the finals was Byron (Barney) Hunt of Columbus, newly-crowned state public links king, who qualified with a 76.

Three-time champion, Servis collected five birdies in putting to better yesterday's low score in a field of 106 entrants. The performance brought him the tournament medal for the sixth and possibly last time, since he is forsaking "serious golf" to assist his father in operating a large Dayton restaurant.

The defending champion was the only former winner in the field. Yesterday's competition, beset by wind, rain and hail, ended with eight players tied at 84 for the 64th qualifying berth, necessitating a playoff. The winner was Dick Brausch, 22-year-old Cincinnati law student.

Today's pairings (with qualifying scores) included:

Upper Bracket
E. Ruebsch, Cincinnati (74), vs. Robert Campbell, Granville (80).
P. A. Stranahan, Toledo (79), vs. Abe Gregor, Warren (83).
Dick Meiser, Springfield (74), vs. Fred Kitchin, Cleveland (80).
J. F. Lewis, Jr., Toledo (77), vs. Russell Drummond, Chillicothe (80).
Lower Bracket
Robert Castor, Ashland (71), vs. Richard Barr, Columbus (80).
Steve Pipely, Youngstown (79), vs. Curtis Reed, Chillicothe (82).
Walter Mayo, Massillon (79), vs. Karl Schmidt, Jr., Akron (83).
Joe Oshvie, Cleveland (79), vs. C. F. Sweeney, Middletown (82).

Breezy Briefs Of Sport From Brietz To You

By EDDIE BRIETZ

NEW YORK, June 27—The Yanks didn't win a series in the west. Max Baer: "If Tony Galento pulls any rough stuff I'll walk out in the middle of the fight." Well, we wouldn't be surprised. Can't confirm 'em, but the up-state air is filled with rumors the N. B. A. will call it quits at the next convention. Larry MacPhail is feuding with the radio again because the Dodger game was cut off Tuesday night in favor of a phonograph record of the Hoover speech.

Bean Ball Dept

The Sporting News and others are waging a campaign to stop beaning by having players wear helmets while batting. Strange enough, the opposition group leaders are the Messrs. Hank Leiber, Joe Medwick and Pee Wee Reese. They want no part of the head guard idea.

What'll you bet Nile Kinnick doesn't play pro football, after all? Washington asked and got waivers on Zeke Bonura, and it looks like Jersey City for old Bananas. Al Simmons has made good in eight straight pinch-hitting tries for the Athletics. It's too bad there's no department for such feats in the record books.

Smashing Par

Golfer Bill Blankensop of Mounts-ville, W. Va., whanged a drive straight down the middle. The ball and a robin collided in midair and fell to the fairway. He fired a drive into the air. It hit a robin, fair and square; "Too bad," cried Bill as he dashed up.

Names in the News

Henry Armstrong sang one of his own compositions over the air the other night, and both were O. K. Miss Adelaide Erwin of Rochester is authoring a biography of Rabbit Maraville which ought to make hilarious reading. Larry French calls Carl Hubbell the greatest pitcher he ever saw—a swell tribute from one fine twirler to another. Petey Sarron, former featherweight champ, shot a hole-in-one down at Birmingham the other day. Joe McCarthy doesn't often give his blessing to players who marry in mid-season, but they say Buddy Rosar will hear those bells pealing at Buffalo, July 9.

Today's Guest Star

James C. Doyle, Cleveland Plain Dealer: Get out your hankies. And weep for the Yankees.

Crow Hunters Vie

KENTON, June 27—Crow hunters will draw for positions tonight in the sixth annual national crow hunters championship shoot to be held here Saturday.

Hunters will be scored on ability to use crow calls number of birds killed and other factors. James W. Stuber of Vandallia will be the official referee.

PIRATES, CARDS PLAY AT NIGHT

Meet Under Lights Friday In First Game Of Series

PITTSBURGH, June 27—Rarely has a short stay by the Pittsburgh Pirates after a long absence on the road presented so many attractive angles as are to be found in the brief stand which the Bucs are to make at Forbes field Friday, Saturday and Sunday against the colorful St. Louis Cardinals.

It might well be called an all-feature series of four games in three days. Friday's opening contest will be a night game, announced for 8:45, eastern daylight saving time, the third event to be played under the Forbes field lighting system, costing more than $125,000 to install and pronounced by experts the finest in the country.

The popularity of night ball in this district is already established. Even under adverse conditions each of the first two nocturnal tilts drew more than 20,000 fans, and a much larger gathering is likely to be on hand this coming Friday to greet the improved Cardinals on their return from the east and extend a welcome to great catcher, Alfonso Lopez, who will be making his first Pittsburgh appearance in a Pirate uniform.

On the following day, the Bucs will tangle with the Cards in a single finale. Roy Weatherly walked to start the sixth inning and was forced by the midday catcher, Beau Bell and Ben Chapman singled to bring in the returned Redskin.

Conservation Board Maps Its 1940 Hunting Season

COLUMBUS, June 27—The controversial "staggered" hunting season was abandoned today as the Ohio conservation and natural resources commission adopted 1940 regulations.

The experiment was tried for the first time in 1939, to spread hunting over a longer period, with "rest periods" for game each week. At an open hearing June 12 farmers voiced vigorous protest on grounds that their late crops were damaged.

The commission fixed hunting seasons and bag limits as follows:
PHEASANT—Nov. 15-30, two cocks daily with four in possession after first day.
RABBIT—Nov. 15-Jan. 1, four and four in possession.
HUNGARIAN PARTRIDGE, Nov. 15-30, four and four in possession.
GROUSE—Nov. 15-30, two and four in possession.
SQUIRREL—Sept. 25-Oct. 10, four and eight in possession.
MINK, MUSKRAT—Dec. 1-Jan.

15 inland district; Dec. 15-Mar. 15, Lake Erie district. No limit.
RACCOON, SKUNK and OPOS. SUM—Nov. 15-Jan. 15. No limit.
The commission appropriated $1,000 for conservation education, public school, and voted $2,000 for Portage and Springfield lakes. Charles Mills reservoir to fish June 30.

One-Armed Driver In Canfield Race

CANFIELD, June 27.—Wesley Sagerer of St. Louis, the world's only one-armed auto race driver, is among new entries in the midge auto races scheduled for the Canfield fairgrounds tomorrow night. An eight-event program will be featured, the first race starting at 8:30. Qualifying trials will get under way at 7:30.

COLUMBIANA SUBURBAN HOME

This property has four acres and is located just east of Columbiana; right on Route 14. Improved with a modern, semi-bungalow of six rooms. Barn and other outbuildings. Chicken house with capacity for about 600 layers. There is also valuable frontage which could be sold off and would reduce the price of this property way down. Land is in the very highest state of cultivation; not one inch of waste land. All the eggs and produce could be marketed right at the road. For more particulars, see—

A "SUBURBAN" PROPERTY Within The City Limits

On account of sickness, I am authorized to sell one of the most attractive homes in Salem. This property consists of a large six-acre tract, located on a paved street within the city limits. The nine-room beautiful home is very attractive, having solid black walnut woodwork, hardwood floors, two bathrooms, and a finished third floor. House is surrounded by beautiful shrubbery and valuable shade trees.
There is a large frontage which makes it desirable for future development, such as an allotment, a tea house, home, tea house, or this will make someone a beautiful home. Priced to sell.

CHAPTER TWENTY-SIX

Sam Snow remained indoors for three full days. It couldn't be said that he rested entirely though, because anyone could see that he was worrying about something.

He rose late each morning, tearing Gabrielle for bringing his fruit juice, toast and coffee to his room.

"You're making a softie out of your old father, Gaby," he complained, smiling.

"I won't hurt you for a little while, Daddy," she said gaily. "Besides, I'm telling you the truth. I like coming up here for a second cup with you, and a good chat every morning."

"Well, what'll we talk about this morning, honey? The wars, inflation, my health, your excellent cooking, or—Peter?"

He was smiling most of the time but Gabrielle thought he looked as though his mind was not on what he was saying. It was strange, she thought, but ever since his sickness her father had seemed preoccupied, worried. She wondered if it was because of his enforced absence from his office.

"Oh, let's talk about you, Daddy. How soon do you think you'll be well enough to have me drive you to work?"

"Me? Why, say, I'm well enough now. Helen is just pampering me, and Dr. Lee is in cahoots with her!"

"No, that isn't it, Daddy," disagreed Gabrielle, wondering at the new lines which had etched themselves around Sam's mouth and eyes. "You see it's gotten awfully cold and disagreeable out since you went to the hospital, and you positively mustn't take any chance of taking cold, you know!"

"Just the same this can't go on much longer. We'll be bankrupt, first thing you know," grumbled Sam.

"Well, don't forget—your daughter is an heiress!"

"I certainly don't expect to live off my daughter!" snapped Sam, frowning angrily.

"Why not? Hasn't she lived off of you all these years?" demanded Gabrielle, but she didn't like the seriousness of her father's voice.

"That's different," he growled, then lapsed into one of his silences. These silences had been growing on him since he had been sick and Gabrielle was frankly puzzled by them.

She asked softly: "Is anything wrong, Daddy?"

He said: "Wrong? No, of course not!"

Gabrielle took the tray off the bedside table. She thought Sam had looked startled at her last question, but she couldn't be sure. She wondered if he was hiding something from them all; if his health was not improving as it should. But perhaps he was only impatient at being kept in.

"I'll have the fire going in the living room and your paper and the new magazines ready for you when you're dressed, sir," she said, curtseying prettily.

"If I ever get well, I'll have to have a valet," grinned Sam.

Gabrielle laughed, she went out of the bedroom, closing the door gently behind her. Going downstairs she meditated upon her father's words. Something was troubling him. She determined to have a talk with Dr. Lee the next time he came to the house.

The next morning Sam surprised them by appearing at the breakfast table fully dressed. He had shaved, and there was an air of excitement about him.

"Good morning, my dear wife and daughter," he said, taking his usual seat.

"Sam, are you sure you feel well enough to get up so early?" Helen demanded, frowning a little, although she had been plainly pleased when she first caught sight of him.

"I never felt better, Helen," he declared.

Violet came in bearing hot biscuits, ham and eggs, and the silver pot of coffee.

"Well, laws a-mee, Mista Snow! How come you-all come down for breakfast?" she cried, her eyes glowing with happiness at sight of him.

"I'm a perfectly well man, Violet," he smiled.

"Yes, suh, you's a lookin' mighty good, suh," she beamed.

"I see by this table that I've been getting the little end of breakfast, too," Sam said, his eyes taking in the beautiful meal. "Toast, orange juice, coffee! If I'd had this man's meal, I'd have been well much sooner!"

"But, Sam, you know Dr. Lee said you should stay on a light diet for a while," protested Helen, although she couldn't help grinning at him.

"He would!" Sam said, helping himself to ham and eggs. "That's how he insures himself of a good living."

"Oh, let him eat, Mother," said Gabrielle, her eyes twinkling.

"Let him!" expostulated Helen. "Heavens! How would I go about stopping him?"

They had a merry meal together, talking on general subjects mostly. Finally, Gabrielle said:

"Daddy, I think I should trade off my car. After all, I've had it over two years now, and it's beginning to cost something for upkeep. What do you think?"

Sam wiped his mouth carefully, laid his napkin on the table, then said: "It's a pretty good time to conserve right now, Gaby—money's anything but free."

Gabrielle laughed, then sobered as she saw that the worried look had come over her father's face again.

"But I've spent scarcely any of Uncle Gabe's money, Daddy," she said. "Not even all of the interest money this year."

"That's good," he commented, smiling slightly. "You'd better hang on to it—you may have to keep your father and mother in their old age."

With this he excused himself and went into the other room.

Gabrielle and Helen naturally thought he was going in by the fire to read, as he had been doing since he came home from the hospital. Therefore, when they went in to join him, a few minutes later, they were considerably surprised not to find him there.

"I guess he went back upstairs," said Helen, straightening up the magazines on an end table.

"I'll go see," offered Gabrielle. She had a feeling that she wouldn't find Sam upstairs, and she didn't. Purposely she loitered in her bedroom, making the bed and picking up odds and ends of clothing. She was really worried about her father. If he were going back to work she would have much preferred taking him herself. Now she hated to go downstairs and tell her mother.

However, she didn't need to, because she heard Helen coming up the stairs.

"Where's Sam?" she asked, a moment later, coming to the door of Gabrielle's room.

"He must have gone back to the office, Mother," replied Gabrielle, trying to sound matter of fact.

"Oh, my goodness! Surely he didn't slip off like that!"

"He probably thought that would be the only way he'd get out!" grinned Gabrielle.

"I'm going to call down there right now," stated Helen.

Sam was back at work and he continued to go to work, putting in the same number of hours as he had prior to his sickness. Before their very eyes he grew thinner and more worried looking, and the silences became more pronounced.

Gabrielle wrote Peter about it, one night when her heart was so full she felt that she had to tell someone. And Peter wrote back right away, urging her to ferret out what was wrong with Sam. He ended his letter:

"Oh, I've always wanted a car all

—because, you see, Gaby, Sam means an awful lot to me. He has always seemed to me the very finest of fathers, perhaps because I never was privileged to know my own. Take good care of yours, and let me know about him. As ever, Peter."

Gabrielle wondered over the "as ever," hoping Peter really meant it as it sounded. Between the worry over her father, the shielding of her mother and the longing for Peter, she really had very little time to think objectively of herself; but when she did, she knew that sometime, somehow, she must arrange a meeting with Peter. She felt the futility of letter writing more and more.

"Mother, if you were buying a car right now, what type would you buy, and what kind?" she asked one morning when she had just returned from taking her father to work.

"Well," Helen was busy with pen and pad, making out the daily grocery list, and menu. "Let's see, now, I think I'd buy the same kind as you have—but of course I'd want a sedan."

"What color?" prompted Gabrielle.

"Oh, blue of course," smiled Helen. "What is this, anyway? Are you going to buy your mother a car?"

"That's just what I am going to do," smiled Gabrielle, sitting down beside her. "You see, Mother, I'm going to New York and see Peter next month some time, and I'm going to trade my car in for one for you. I'd like you to have what you want."

"Oh, I've always wanted a car all my own," Helen said, her eyes glowing. "But what about when you come back, dear? Will you like to drive a sedan as well as any other?"

"I hope I won't come back, except to visit," smiled Gabrielle, as she looked dreamily out of the window with unseeing eyes. "And if I do come back—any car will do."

Helen eyed her daughter closely. Has Peter been urging you to come, Gaby?"

"No, he hasn't said a word about it," admitted Gabrielle unashamedly. "But I'm going just the same. Mother, I want to talk to Peter face to face. Letters are no good. I want to see him when I talk to him!"

Helen sighed, but patted her daughter's hand affectionately.

"Your mother wants you to be happy, dear. I'm probably mostly to blame for your marriage not being a success."

"Now, don't talk silly, Helen," said Gabrielle; but there were tears in her eyes.

Things went on very much as they had before Sam became sick, except that Gabrielle couldn't overcome the feeling that something was radically wrong with her father.

She went to work with him each day, usually going for him in the evening, too, although sometimes her mother went.

Gabrielle had purchased the long blue sedan for her mother. It had been delivered on Helen's birthday.

Never, thought Gabrielle, had she seen her mother so happy as upon that occasion. She had put the deed to the car in an envelope and stood it up against the ruby water glass, directly in front of her mother's blue breakfast plate.

Gabrielle, inasmuch as Helen drove the blue sedan all the time, took to driving the old car belonging to her father, or if he were using this, she simply walked. She went few places anyway.

It was only seven blocks to the small house where Dorothy and Tony lived, and it was here that Gabrielle went mostly, because she felt Dorothy really needed her these days.
